The leading General of the Prussian army is one who has as yet received very litt's attention from the American Press. In Press'a he is regarded as far superior to the Crown Prince, and as the equal, if not the superior, of the veteral Von Mo' he.

Urica, August 3, 1870. Sir:-I put off until this time my answer to your letter asking me to speak to a meetng at Rochester upon the subject of Chinese immigration, as I hoped it would be in my power to do so. I am sorry that I cannot at now. Strong influences are at work to open the flood-gates and pour in upon us the worst classes of over-crowded China. can get to our shores at less cost and in great r numbers "an the people of Europe. If they continue to crowd in they will over brow the customs, civilization, and religion of the whole Pacific coast, and they will als crush down the position of the laboring classes throughout our country. I am against this; I am not willing they should gain a foot hold here. No nation in Europe would suf fer such an invasion. If Britain, Germany or France should allow anything of the kind their governments would be overthrown Why should we give up our civilization in any part of our country for that of Asia?

It is said we want cheap labor. We do not want cheap labor but well paid labor. Interest as well as justice and humanity call fo this. If all who labor in this country took the same wages and spent as little money as the Chinese laborer our Government would e bankrupt and business would shrink up. Well-paid labor spends freely with the busi-ness man and fills the national treasury by the imposes and duties it pay upon what it uses. This is the whole source of our finanial strength as compared with other people If labor is brought down to the Chines standard, there will at once be a difference in the condition of classes which will in the end overthrow our government. We pay gher taxes and interest than any other pe ple, and if the price of labor is put down to Asiatic rees, capital will swallow up the earnings of toil more rapidly than was ever yet done in the history of nations. this is to be our fature we have lost in vai nearly a million of lives in the war.

is not the object of government late ivit to undersell others, to pinch ourselves that we may pinch others. The great end of statesmanning is to give comfort and plenty to each home, and to take care that labor is we'll paid. We should seek to give happiness to each fire side circle, and not to fill the coffers of capitalists.

It is said by some if we shat out Chinese

We invite European immigration, because it adds to our power and happiness. Europeans do not overthrow our customs, religion or civil They do not bring here any strange blood. It has always been our practice to shut out any immigration that is hurtfal. We send back to Europe criminals or paupers, by vir'ue of the State and national laws.

If we can do this, nati Commercial, then we can keep away another form of bar parism which has no rights here.

It is to be hoped that this subject will be taken up and discussed in a fair and temperate way by all classes. We must not let it drift and settle itself. PARK's Mill, on Cenasuaga river, Polk county, Tennessee, on Thursday of last week was the scene of a most horrible and brutal nurder. A man by the name of Matt. Park, aged about forty-five years, shot and killed a little boy, aged twelve years, by the name of Overbec. The Cleveland Banner gives the following particulars of the unfortunate affair. Park is the owner of the mill in question. The boy Overbec, and some two or three other boys, were on the cliff that overhangs the mill, amusing themselves flipping gravels against the mill, some of which went into the mill door. Park ordered them to quit it. The boys then went further up the bluff, but it seems did not desist. Park then sent to the house for the key to the room where he kept his gan, saying at the same time that he "would defend his property." The key was brought to him, when he unlocked the room, hupted up some lead, beat out some small shot. slugs and loaded the gun; then went up stairs to get upon a level with the boys, and fired, when the boy Overbec fell over the bluff into the road below, perfectly lifeless, one whole side of him being perforated with the deadly missiles in the gun. Some persons were present and witnessed the killing, but, supposing Perk was only trying the frighten the little boys, paid but little attention to the matter until the shooting took place. Park was at once arrested, and had a trial before a justice of the peace, and, under the plea of insanity, was found guilty of murder in the second degree, and bound over to court in a bond of $10,000, which he gave.

Hence the people of the German principalities which more liberty and an infinitely better government than ever before. They are thoroughly disciplined, the best armed and accoutred in the world, enthusiastic for their King and devoted to the cause of United Germany.

We were not therefore greatly surprised to hear that in the first engagement of any domensions, that at Weissenberg, the Prussians had thrown a superior force against the French and defeated them. The details of the battle which have been received are very meagre, but the French admit all that the Prussians claim and are not disposed to adopt the boastful tactics of some of our own generals during our Tamentable war. The battle occurred on Thursday, 4th inst. The following is an army of 150,000 men is assembled. The account of the battle from a London correspondent within the French lines viz:

"While General Douay's Division, composed of the Seventy-fourth and Fiftieth Regiments of the line, Sixteenth Battalion Chasone regiment abounted Chasseurs, were busy yesterday in the neighborhood of Weissenburg, they were startled by a tremendous discharge of artillery. As the patrols which had been posted all along the frontier had troops, the men believed for a moment they treat, which was effected in good order. not the case; but the Prussians in great force, well supplied with artiliery, appeared pursue with vigor or to give him serious on the heights of Schwergen, occupying the whole country near the small Bavarian village of hat name. General Douay ordered Reversions of the Prussians his troops to advance before the enemy, keeping as much as possible behind Weisrenburg, which lay just between them and the Prussian forces; but this precaution proved difficult to second for the structure of the past, that insists on reviving dead issues and that is disposed to fight great numbers. The Prussian guns were army at Metz as well as among the popufiring at a tremendous rate, and their rounds fell equally on Weissenburg and in the midst of the troops. Several houses were on fire, and a large number of soldiers lay dead or wounded. About 11 o'clock General Vahican's division was commencing to retire. of artillery. All proved useless. Had the French insisted on attacking the enemy any what was left of General Douay's force began retiring, the Prussian artillery was after them. It was about 12 o'clock when General Douay fell, a victim to the Prussian artillery. Troops commenced running without order, crossing roads and vine yards, until again reaching the farthest part of Weissenburg. The number of dead and wounded must be very large indeed. The remaining troops are eager to avenge the death of their late General.

Another and a far more sanguinary engagement took place on Saturday 6th inst. It may be regarded as a general battle, for the French were commanded by the DUKE OF MAGENTA in person and the Prussians by the Crown Prince FREDERICK WIL-HELM. It seems from the confused statements received that there was terrible fighting all along the line from Saarbruck to Haguenau. The French were beaten at every point and the Prusians remained masters of the whole field, The Prussians occupied both Saarbruck and Hagueneu. The losses on both sides in killed and heavy, but the numbers are not reported. The French lost 6,000 prisoners and thirty cannon, and they acknowledge the defeat. The Duke of MAGENTA was cut off from the rest of the French army, and when heard from on Sunday he had established his head quarters at Saverne. The main body of the French have retreated to Metz, and the DUKE of MAGENTA cannot join it without a battle or a very circuitous march.

On Sunday, 7th inst., there was still another battle at Woerth, in which the Bavarian troops beat the French. The king of Bavaria thus briefly announces it, viz: Early on the morning of the 7th instant. just as our troops had left their bivouacs to march on Ergotzheim, the thunder of cannon

Our movements were hastened, and we soon came up with the First Corps, which was engaged with the enemy.

The Bavarian troops were placed in the assault upon the Hights of Geremend, which were carried about 5 o'clock, the French being repulsed in disorder, and with heavy loss. The action was severe and sanguinary. The King issued a congratulatory order to the second corps, thanking them for their splendid conduct and gallantry. The French evidently regard their own position as extremely critical. The Empress Eugenie issued the following proclamation on Sunday, 7th inst., viz:

These misdeeds are accomplished facts We are out of power and cannot remedy or undo them until we get into power. We will never succeed if we keep up the struggle on territory that has been passed for five years. Not only Kentucky but the whole Democratic party has been foully wronged. The path to redress lies through the present and the future. When we go back to the past, we meet Radicalism on its chosen ground. Our true policy is to assail it for what it has just now done, for what it is now doing and what it threatens to do. The mission of the Democracy is to relieve the country of the intolerable burden of taxaation by which it is weighed down; to rid cutting off the supplies and forage for the it of a tariff passed and supported in the French troops sheltered under the glacis of interest of the monopolists, to force a interest of the monopolists, to force a return to an economical administration of the government; to extirpate rascality and corruption: to combat centralization in all of its forms and resist the pernicious theories of progressive Jacobinism; "to lead the people back to a con-> and of law enacted, and apheld by the spirit of virtuous liberty." For the present we are in favor of letting the negro suffrage business alone. The negro has excited disturbance enough in our politics, and it is time for the Democracy to pull off from the exciting topic. The negro is the special property of the Radicals and his status has been settled for a time at least, and the present is more street. Cincinnati, Ohio. But as the Convention has been called and the race thus opened for all comers, the best plan will be to endorse Mr. RICE by acclamation, and return him to Congress by an increased majority. His course has been acceptable to his party, and he ought to be permitted to serve at least one more term without the threat of expulsion impending over him. Something is due to good manners, and gentlemen will lose nothing by conceding to Mr. RICE that which has been customary in other cases. The time may come when they would be pleased to

In another column we publish the Pope's proclamation of his own infallibility as successor to St. PETER. It will be interesting, not only to believers in the tenets of Roman Catholicism, but even to Protestants, since it lays down an authoritative definition of the doctrine. We shall be very particular how we speak of the proclamation, since everlasting and those who reject its teachings. And without disputing its exact truth we does not blast a tree as suddenly as a stroke of cannot help thinking that its proclamation at this particular juncture will do more to weaken the Pope's power in the world pulpits. Adopted unanimously by the Sunday School, on Sunday, July 31st, 1870.

W. W. GOODWIN, See'y.

Sacred to the Memory of Edward H. Herndon.
At Mayslick, his old home, on Sabbath afternoon
July 31st, 1870, all that was mortal of the veteran Landlord and Village Postmaster, was consigned in the old Baptist graveyard in the presence of an assemblage of as sincere mourners as over wept over the dust of worth and cloverness.
His devoted friends and relations, his old neighbors and associates, the village maidens and schoolbors, the old and young, the rich and poor, black and white men were there to take a last fond lingering look of all of him that death had left to then.
Elder Aaron Mitchell's remarks over the body of Elider Aaron Mitchell's remarks over the body of his old friend and neighbor were sclemn, impressive and appropriate—a suitable tribute to the virues of the lamented dead, full of high hopes and deep consolations which the remembrance of his character and life is so well fitted to inspire in the hearts of his survivors. Beautiful, most beautiful, were all his walks in life, and so far as mortals can have the means of judging, he was well fitted to pass from the society of men to that of angels. His countenance was the same as in life, save that it seemed much emaciated, and wore a look of calmor, seroner, haller, and more awful beauty than ever belongs to the faces of the living. None could gaze upon it without fancying that they beheld the trace, the deep impress of heavenly thoughts that filled his soul in the hour of its departure to the better land. The signal ring of God was bright upon his brow, a smile of peace and resignation rested upon his life, to fade only when dust shall be resolved to dust.

In peace with all the world—in peace with God his dying utterances were "Not my will, but thine he done, O God." "To die and be with Christ is gain."

Courier-Journal, of Friday, says: Look at the railroad from Paris to Maysville almost completed, and track laying going on rapidly. Look at the cars running from Big Sandy to Grayson, and the road-bed that was almost finished years ago between that point and Maysville. Aside from the vast importance of a through line to Maysville, and eventuall to the Chesapeake, there are the Pennsylvenia and New York railroad connections to b tapped at Portsmouth, and the New York TOBACCO, gotiating for a line to the Ohio at some point above Maysville. There is a very good prospect that a road hence to Maysville will, in a few years become not only a link in the great line to tide water, Virginia, but also part of another formidable line, competing at Louisville for freight and travel to the Northeast. The Georgetown Times reports the proceedings of a large meeting at that place, which adopted the following resolutions:

Thomas Parr.

Thomas Parr, who lived 152 years and 9 months—the oldest man since Methuselah. Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of blood, examined the body minutely after death. It was muscular; the chest hairy, and the hair on the fore arms still black; and gave otherwise such evidence of vigor, that it seemed not improbable that the common reort was true that Parr did penance for some unlicensed act of gallantry after he had passed his hundredth year. He had married, in his 120th year, a widow. The chest was broad and ample, and the lungs free from organic disease. There were signs of suffication. The heart was large, thick, fibrous and healthy. [From the Advance Sheets of the Catholic World for September.] Pius, Bishop, Sertant of the Servants of God, with the Approbation of the Holy Council, for a Perpetual Remembrance Hereof:-The eternal Shepherd and Bishop of our souls, in order to render perpetual the saving work of his redemption, resolved to build the Holy Church, in which, as in the house of the living God, all the faithful should be united by the bond of the same faith and charity for which reason before he was glorified he prayed the Father, not for the Apostles alone but also for those who, through their word, as the Son himself and the Father are one. Wherefore, we condemn and reprobate the opinions of those who, say that this commu would believe in him, that they might be one (John xvii. 1-20.) Wherefore, even, as he sent the Apostles, whom he had chosen from the world, as he had been sent by the Father, so he willed that there should be pastors and the Apostolic See or under its authority for teachers in His Church even to the consumthe government of the Church have no force teachers in His Church even to the consummation of the world. Moreover, to the end and undivided, and that the entire multitude of believers might be preserved in oneness of faith and of communion, through priests cleaving mutually together, he placed the blessed Peter before the other apostles and established in him a perpetual principle of this two fold unity, and a visible foundation on whose strength "the eternal temple might be built, and in whose firm faith the Church might rise upward until her summit reach the heavens." (St. Leo the Great, sermon iv. or iii. chapter 2, on Christmas.) Now, seeing that in order to overthrow, if possible, the Church, the powers of hell on every side, and by its hatred which increases day by day, are assailing her foundation which was placed by God, we, therefore, for the preservation, the safety and the increase of the Catholic flock, and with the approbation of the sacred council have judged it necessary to set forth the doctrine which, according to the ancient and constant faith of the universal church, all the faithful must believe and hold, touching the institution, the perpetuity and the nature of the sacred Apostolic primacy, in which stands the power and strength of the entire Church; and to proscribe and condemn the contrary errors so hurtful to the flock of the Lord. CHAPTER I.

Of the Institution of the Apostolic Primacy in the Blessed Peter.

We teach, therefore, and declare that, according to the testimonies of the Gospel, the primacy of jurisdiction over the whole Church of God was promised and given immediately and directly to blessed Peter the Apostle by Christ our Lord. For it was to Simon alone to whom he had already said, "Thou shalt be called Cephas" (John i, 42.) that, after he had professed his faith, "Thou art Christ, the son of the living God," our Lord said, "Blessed art then Simon Bor Lord hesses Galled. art thou, Simon Bar-Jona, because flesh and blood hath not revealed it to thee, thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church, and the gates of hell shall not pre-vail against it; and I will give to thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt bind upon earth it shall be bound also in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose upon earth, it shall be loosed also in heaven." (Matthew xvi. 16-19.) And it was to Simon Peter alone that Jesus, after his resurrection, gave the jurisdiction of supreme Shepherd and ruler over the whole of his so clearly set forth in the sacre ! scriptures, im, as to the agent of the Church.

If, therefore, any one shall say that blessed Peter the Apostle was not appointed by Christ our Lord, the Prince of all the Apostles and the visible head of the whole church militant, or that he received directly and immediately, are that he received directly and immediately, the prince of the prince of the prince of the prince of the saying doctrine of Christ among Peter the Apostle was not appointed by Christ our Lord, the Prince of all the Apostles and the visible head of the whole courch militant, or that he received directly and immediately, from our Lord Jesus Christ only the primacy

What the prince of pastors and the great shepherd of the sheep, our Lord Jesus Christ, established in the person of the blessed Apostle Peter for the perpetual welfare and lasting good of the church, the same through his power must needs last forever in that church, which is founded upon the rock, and will stand firm till the end of time. And indeed t is well known, as it has been in all ages that the holy and most blessed Peter, prince and head of the Apostles, pitlar of faith and foundation of the Catholic Church, who re-ceived from our Lord Jesus Christ, the Savior and Redeemer of mankind, the keys of the kingdom of heaven, to this present time and at all times, lives and presides and pronounces judgment in the person of his suc-cessors, the hishops of the holy Roman see, which was founded by him and consecrated by his blood. (Council of Eph. sess. iii. St. Peter Chrys. Ep. ad Eutych.) Peter, in his thair, holds, according to Christ's own insti-tution, the primacy of Peter over the whole church. What, therefore, was once establish-ed by him who is the truth still remains, and blessed Peter, retaining the strength of the rock, which has been given to him, has never left the helm of the courch originally entrust-ed to him. (St. Lee, sermon iii. chap. iii.) For this reason it was always necessary for every other church-that is, the faithful of all countries-to have recourse to the Roman church on account of its superior headship, in order that being joined, as members of their head, with this see, from which the rights of religious communion flow unto all, that they might be knitted into the unity of one body. (St. Irenœus against Heresies book 3, chap. iii. Epist, of Cauncil of Aquile ian, 381 to Grattian, chap. 4 of Pius VI. Brief Super Ibid. itate.) If, therefore, any one shall say, that it is not by the institution of Christ our Lord himself, or by divine right, that blessed Peter has perpetual successors in the primacy over the whole church, or that the Roman pontiff is not the successor of the blessed Peter, in this primacy, let him be

CHAPTER III. Of the Power and Nature of the Primacy of the Roman Pontiff.

Wherefore, resting upon the clear testimo-nies of holy writ, and following the full and explicit decrees of our predecessors, the Roman pontiffs and of general councils, we reman pontiffs and of general councils, we renew the definition of the Ecumenical Council, of Florence, according to which all the faithful of Christ raust believe that the holy apostolic see and the Roman pontiff holds the primacy over the whole world, and that the Roman pontiff is the successor of blessed Peter, the prince of the Apostles, and the true vicar of Christ, and is the head of the whole church, and the father and teacher of all Christians, and that to him, in the blessed Peter, was given by our Lord Jesus Christ full power of feeding, ruling, and governing

Peter, was given by our Lord Jesus Christ full power of feeding, ruling, and governing the universal church, as is also set forth in the acts of the Ecumenical Councils and in the sacred canons.

"Whereof we teach and declare that the Roman Church, under divine Providence, possesses a headship of ordinary power over all other Churches, and that this power of jurisdiction of the Roman pontiff, which is truly episcopal, is immediate, toward which the pastors and faithful of whatever rite and dignity, whether singly or altogether, are beand by the duty of hierarchical subordination and of true obedience, not only in things which

WEEKLY MAYSVILLE EAG LE appertain to faith and morals, but likewise in ose things which concern the discipline an government of the Church spread throughout the world, so that being united with the Roman pontiff, both in communion and profession of the same faith the Church of Chris may be one fold under one chief shepherd This is the doctrine of Catholic truth from which no one can depart without loss of faith and salvation.

So far, nevertheless, is the power of the supreme pontiff from trenching on that ordi-nary power of episcopal jurisdiction by which the bishops, who have been instituted by the Holy Ghost, and have succeeded in the place of the apostles, like true shepherds, feed and rule the flock assigned to them; each one his own; that on the contrary, this their power is asserted, strengthened and vindicated by the supreme and universal master as St. he supreme and universal paster, as St. Gregory the Great saint:— My honor is the honor of the universal Church; my honor is the solid strength of my brethren; then am I truly honored when to each one of them the honor due is not denied,"
(St. Gregory Great ad Euloguius, Epist. 30.)

Moreover from that supreme authority of the Roman pontiff to govern the universal the Roman pontiff to govern the universal Church there follows to him the right, in the exercise of this his office, of freely communicating with the pastors and flocks of the whole Church, that they mad be taught and guided by him in the way of salvation.

nication of the supreme head with the pastors and flocks can be lawfully hindered, or who make it subject to the secular power, main taining that the things which are decreed by or value unless they are confirmed by the approval of the secular power. And since, is the supreme judge of the faithful (Pius VI. brief super soliditate) and that in all causes calling for ecclesiastical trial recourse may be had to his judgment (Second Council of Lyons) but the decision of the Apostolic Sec, above which there is no higher authority, cannot be reconsidered by any one, nor is it lawful to any one to sit in judgment. (Nicholas I. epist. ad Michaelem Imperatorem.

Wherefore they wander away from the right path of truth who assert that it is lawful to appeal from the judgments of the Roman Pontiffs to an ecumenical council, us if to an authority superior to the Roman Pontiff.

Therefore, if any one should say that the Roman pontiff holds only the charge of Inspection or direction, and not full and supreme power of jurisdiction over the entire Church, not only in things which pertain to faith and morals, but also in those which pertain to the discipling and government of the Church spread throughout the word; or that he possesses only the chief part and not the entire plentitude of the supreme power; or that this his power is not ordinary and immediate, both as regards all and each of the churches and all and each of the pastors and faithful, let him be anathema. · CHAPTER IV.

Of the Infallible Authority of the Roman Pon-tiff in teaching.

This Holy See has ever held, the unbroken custom of the Church has proved and the Ecumenical Councils—those especially in which the East join with the West in union of faith and charity-have declared that is this apostolic primacy which the Roman Pon tiff holds over the universal Church, as suc essor of Peter, the prince of apostles, there s also contained the supreme power of auhoritative teaching. Thus the fathers of the Fourth Council of Constantinople, follow in the footsteps of the predecessors, put forth this solemn profession :--

The first law of salvation is to keep the rule of true faith. And whereas the words of our Lord Jesus Christ cannot be passed by, who said:—Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church (Matt. XVI., 18.) These words which he spake, are proved true by facts, for in the Apostolie see the Catholic religion has ever been preserved unspotted and the hely destrine has been announced. Therefore, wishing nover to be separated from the faith and tacching of this Sec, we hope to be worthy to shide in that one communion to be worthy to shide in that one communion which the Apostolic See preaches, in which is the full and true firmness of the Christian religion. (Formulas of St. Hormisdas Popo, as proposed by Madrian II. to the fathers of the eighth General Council (Constantinople IV. and subscribed by saying, "feed my lambs;" "feed my p." (John xxi. 15-17.) To this doctrine early set forth in the sacred scriptures, and headship, which was truthfully and headship which was truthfully and heads So to the Greeks, with the approval of the and headship, which she truthfully and hum acknowledges that she received from the stood it, are plainly opposed the perverse opinions of those, who, distorting the form of government established in his Church by Christ our Lord, deny that Peter alone above the other Apostles, whether taken separately one by one or all together, was endowed by Christ with a true and real primacy or jurisothers, is bound the defend to truth of the diction; or who assert that this primacy was not given immediately and directly to blessed Christ and the head of the whole Church and Peter, but to the Church, and through her to him, as to the agent of the Church. that to him, in the blessed Peter, was given from our Lord Jesus Christ only the primacy of honor and not that of true and real jurisdiction, let him be anotherma.

CHAPTER II.

Of the Perpetuity of the Primacy of Peter in the Roman Pontiffs.

What the prince of pastors and the great shepherd of the sheep, our Lord Jesus Christ, and form of anoignt rule (St. Innocent L. to spread the saving doctrine of Christ among all the nations of the earth, and with equal care have watched to preserve it pure and unchanged where it had been received. Where fore the bishops of the whole world, sometime singly, sometimes assembled in synods, following the long established custom of the churches (S. Cyril, Alex, ad 8. Coelest, Pap.) o spread the saving doctrine of Christ among and form of ancient rule (St. Innocent 1. to councils of Carthage and Milevi) referred to his Apostolic See, those dangers which es pecially arose in matters of faith, in order that injuries to faith might best be healed there, where the faith could never fail. (St. Bernard op. 120.) And the Roman Pontiffs, Bernard op. 120.) And the Roman Pontiffs, weighing the condition of times and circumstances, sometimes calling together general councils, or asking the judgment of the Church scattered through the world, sometimes consulting particular synods, sometimes using such other aids as Divine Providence supplied, defined that those doctrines should be held which, by the aid of God, they knew to be conformable to the boly scriptures and the apostolic tradition. Fer the Holy and the apostolic tradition. Fer the Holy Ghost is not promised to the successors of Peter that they may make known a new doctrine revealed by him, but that through his assistance they may sacredly guard and faithfully set forth the revelation delivered by the appropriate this their provides the state of faith. And this their apostolic teaching, all the venera-ble fathers have embraced, and the holy orordox doctors have revered and followed nowing most certainly that this See of St. Peter ever remains free from all error according to the divine promise of our Lord and Saviour made to the prince of the apostles—"I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not, and thou being once converted, confirm thy brethren." (Conf. St. Agatho. ep. ad Imp: a cone. occum vi approbat.

Therefore this set to for the sale of the sale of

Therefore this gift of truth and of faith which fails not was divinely bestowed on Peter and his successors in this chair, that they should exercise their high office for the salvation of all, that through them the universal flock of Christ should be turned away from the poisonous food of error and should be nourished with the food of beavenly doctrine, and that the occasion of schism being removed the entire Church should be preserved.

and that the occasion of schism being removed the entire Church should be preserved one, and planted on her foundation, should stand first against the gates of hell.

Nevertheless, since in this present age, when the saving efficacy of the appostolic office is exceedingly needed, there are not a few who carp at his authority; we judge it altogether necessary to solemnly declare the prerogative which the only begotten son of God has deigned to unite to the supreme per dod has deigned to unite to the supreme pas-
